Dear Sirs:

The undersigned consumer, civil rights, and advocacy groups write to urge your companies to take affirmative steps to help the credit histories of federal workers impacted by the current partial shutdown of the federal government. As you know, the shutdown has resulted in some federal workers being unable to make payments on their mortgages, student loans, car loans, credit cards and other credit obligations due to being deprived of their paychecks. This in turn is likely to result in harm to their credit reports and lowered credit scores, all due to a shutdown that they had no role or responsibility in causing.

We appreciate the fact that some creditors have offered to provide forbearances to federal workers affected by the shutdown. However, this is not adequate to protect the credit records of federal workers, since these forbearances are not universal amongst creditors; they require the federal worker to apply for the forbearance; and they might not be provided automatically. Without automatic application of credit reporting relief, federal workers face ongoing harm from financial events beyond their control.

Thus, we call upon your companies to take more affirmative steps. We urge you to proactively remove any negative information that appears during the shutdown period from consumer credit reports if the credit report indicates that the consumer's employer is a federal agency affected by the shutdown.

Thank you for your consideration. If you have any questions about this letter, please contact Chi Chi Wu, National Consumer Law Center, at 617-542-8010 or cwu@nclc.org.
